About SNACC

The mission of the Society for Neuroscience in Anesthesiology and Critical Care (SNACC) is to safeguard and optimize perioperative neurologic function and brain health through neuroscience research, education, and advocacy, thereby advancing high-quality, patient-centered anesthesia and critical care. SNACC was founded in 1973 (as the Neurosurgical Anesthesia Society or NAS), in the United States, with many luminaries (both anesthesiologists and neurosurgeons) in the field serving as its first leaders. SNACC continues to be a worldwide leader in the creation and dissemination of Neuroanesthetic and Neurocritical Care knowledge, discovery, practice guidelines, and education, having collaborated also with many affiliates and stakeholders across the globe. Now with over 680 members, SNACC is committed to the worldwide furthering of Neuroanesthesia and Neurocritical Care as disciplines that are essential to the care of diverse patients, and to the advancement of these fields for the betterment of all of mankind.

Secure Your Partnership

SNACC's Annual Meeting has been designed to meet the educational needs of neurosurgical and neurocritical care anesthesiologists and neuroscientists involved in the care of patients with neurological disorders and is intended for faculty, resident, and fellow neurosurgical and neurocritical care anesthesiologists, neuroscientists, certified registered nurse anesthetists, postdoctoral fellows, graduate, and medical students. We anticipate 250–300 attendees at the Annual Meeting, primarily neuroanesthesiologists and neuroscientists.
